There our quite alot of memories that I have of Joe during our 18 year marriage. The one of the funniest is when we lived in our house on Canterbury Rd. they were starting to build housing development behind our house in the field. Joe decided to check it out. After we got back there , there was no exit so he had to turn around and backed in a ditch and first thing I knew was our front end sticking up in air . Well we was not able to get car out but had to carry our groceries about half a mile through the soybean field back to house. Richard Ashley to the rescue again. One of the best memories of Joe is that he always seemed to make me laugh.

“ *So sorry to hear of your passing . I will forever be thankful that I met you while you were out walking . I hope that all those plants I gave you this summer flourish and spread in the garden you made in your back yard . So sorry though that I didn't get your banana trees to you in time for you to enjoy them .
You made me smile .*

“ I know Joe is laughing at me! I am not good at all with keeping with technical things . Well I remember when we went on trips together and he would get lost he would always say we took the scenic route. One time when we lived on Canterbury Road they were starting a housing development behind our house in the field . We went back there and there was no exit so Joe was turning around and backed up in a ditch .The first thing I remember is the front end of the car was straight up in the air. We had to carry our groceries half a mile in a soybean field. Joe made me laugh a lot and I have a lot of good memories with him.

“ I have talked to so many of Joe's friends in Milford. They all say what a great guy he was, willing to help anybody with anything .He did things for others not for the thanks but because he knew of the need. He was a true friend and I will miss him, as will everyone I have talked to. Please know you, the family, are in my prayers today and the days ahead. Soon the memories will out do the sadness. Love Ruth.
