“ My condolences to all the family, of which I’m a part. It’s unfortunate but jobs, time, family, distance, etc. can separate us from those we love. It’s times like this that we realize we should’ve made it happen anyway. Ann was my cousin. Although I had only spoken to them a couple of times since they celebrated their 70th wedding anniversary, I still share in your tears and grief. We had decades of memories created through time spent in the home growing up when Kay and I were so close, family reunions, and going to church together in my earliest years. Ann was a devout Christian, a loving wife, a devoted mother, and matriarch to her family, and a trusted friend. She will truly be missed by many. Just know... She has seen her Savior’s face, been reunited with family, and will be awaiting her reunion with you one day. I wish I was able to be with during this time, but I’m not. I will be there, however, in spirit and love. I love you all and share your grief.

“ Ms. Annabelle was such a sweet dear lady. She was dainty and quiet-spoken. But when she spoke, you listened! She didn't waste words and always dropped pearls of wisdom. We had our laughs as well. She made 92 look good! She is going to be greatly missed. My old church, Open Door, won't be the same without her sitting there peacefully with a smile. Rest on Ms. Annabelle I will see you in the morning!! My condolences to Kay and the family!!!
