“ My very deepest condolences to all the family, and especially to Linda, Susan, Carla and Colleen. Having worked with Linda for a number of years, I feel like I knew your mother and sort of adopted her (in my mind) to replace the earthly mother I have missed so desperately since 2005 when she passed. Whenever Linny was going home to see her mother, I would often tell Linny, "give your mom a big hug from me, because I can't give one to mine." You will feel the hurt and pain from your mother's loss for a long, long time. As I've shared with others who have lost a very dear parent, I encourage each of you to keep your mother's spirit alive and amongst all of you by talking to her, and talk about her whenever you can. She'll always be with you in a very close and special way. Stay close as sisters and whenever you're together, talk...talk...talk about your mother and your father...all the time. It will bring about laughter, as well as tears, but will always be the glue ... the bond as only sisters can share, and will reinforce the love you share for each other. May God bless all of you.
