“ TO MY brother my right hand man you will be missed but not forgotten! A young man that was so bright, talented, and gifted. I will always remember us laying down songs, you rapping and doing spoken words to my every beat, the times we spent together, playing at different shows, me you and RayRay in the basement rehearsing, getting ready to do our thing in first class style, every time I needed you, you were there all the way even when things were hard I knew I could count on you. I just wanted people to know how bright & how smart you were, and what the world lost since you are gone. It will NEVER be the same without you, I always looked up to you even though you looked at me as your mentor, you never realized you were mine. You were the reason I kept on doing what I did playing music, doing poetry, if Huntington only knew what they lost because I believe you were destined to do big things. I was blessed to have you in my life, and I know one day I'll see you again. In heaven we will meet again
