

Janet C. Wilson

October 15, 2020 - November 30, 2020

Janet C. Wilson of Culloden, WV passed away peacefully on Monday, November 30, 2020 at St. Mary's Hospital in Huntington, WV. Born on October 15, 1951 in Logan County, WV, Janet was the daughter of the Sandy Edward Collier and Margaret Williams Collier. For the last year, Janet battled the loss of her companion, George Cart, and various health issues to which she finally succumbed. She was the widow of the late Lowell Freeman Wilson. She is survived by three brothers and a sister. Per Janet's wishes, her remains were donated to science and she did not want a funeral or service of any type. She would probably be mad if she knew she had an obituary. Janet was a unique and hard-working person. She actively supported veterans and participated in activities in the Milton area including serving up kettle corn at the Pumpkin Festival and other nearby fairs. She liked to sit on the porch, smoke cigarettes, and talk to neighbors. She loved a good sunset, looking at magazines, and engaging in debate with anyone who would banter with her from children to senior adults. Janet liked food but only a small amount. She liked to stay up half the night. She enjoyed going to the flea market, Walmart, and out to eat. Her kind neighbors looked out for her and showed grace and compassion, especially as her health declined. She passed away knowing that she was loved and cared for.
