“ So sorry for your loss Tammie. I can see where you got your beauty from. I know your mom was proud of her baby girl. She did an excellent job raising you. May god give you and your family comfort during this time.

“ I first met Midge when she married my brother Don. I immediately felt like she was my sister. She never felt like an in-law. She and Don loved each other so much, and I do not believe she ever got over his death. Our family was so blessed to have her in our lives. She loved Mom and was so good to her, helping to take care of her. Midge was so full of Jesus, she glowed with it. She was truly one of the kindest most loving person I know. I loved her so much and will forever keep her in my heart. Thank you God for my bonus sister.

“ Aunt Midge, that's what we called her because she was like a sister to my mom. She was the most loving person. When I was a child, she smiled so big when she saw me, told me how amazing and special I was. She'd tell me I was beautiful, though I had no idea why. I felt seen and showered with love in her presence. I was happy to merely sit quietly near her, absorbing the sunny rays. Even as the years passed, she never changed. Every time I saw her or spoke with her, I felt like I'd stepped into warm sunshine. I don't know how she did it as surely her days were not always so bright. Thank you, Midge, for being you. You taught me so much. I love you beyond words.

“ 22 years ago I had the pleasure and honor of meeting my future grandmother-in-law. She welcomed me with open arms, literally, and loved me from Day 1. The family is extremely blessed to have had a matriarch as Midge. She loved Jesus and wanted everyone to have a relationship with Him. I could go on and on and never touch her true essence. She was a remarkable woman and I'm a better person for knowing her. I celebrate her reunion with Don in heaven!
