

Pauline Porter Hemlepp

May 16, 1931 - March 26, 2020

Pauline Porter Hemlepp, 88, of Charleston, WV, began her heavenly journey on March 26, 2020 to rejoin her late husband, Jerry Cecil Hemlepp. She was the daughter of the late Julia Lyon Porter and Paul Raymond Porter of Ashland, KY. She graduated from Stonewall Jackson High School, and attended Morris Harvey College, majoring in Chemistry. She worked as a lab technician for the Union Carbide Corporation Institute Plant, retiring in 1987. She also enjoyed a 35-year modeling career with Stone and Thomas.

Pauline was a wonderful mother, wife, volunteer, and staunch environmental activist. In the late 1980s, she organized a movement to save her Blackwell Drive neighborhood from devastation of clear cutting and road destruction by a lumber company. The land remains a protected woodland area.

Pauline is survived by her daughter, Hilary Hemlepp, (Jon McCune), and her granddaughter, Julia Fanelli (Justin).

“ *Hilary, I am so sorry to hear about your beautiful Mom. "Lady" is the most accurate term to describe her. She was always so kind and caring - even to the little "mean" girl that lived down the street. We are never old enough to lose our Moms. I hope you find peace in the days ahead. I'm so grateful to have had the chance to grow up where we did, surrounded by the good people that were there looking out for all of the kids in the neighborhood, all the time.
