

Scott Gerlach

June 27, 1980 - August 22, 2014

Scott left this world by his choice and own actions. He has been fighting internal battles since he was a teenager. His enemies were depression and drugs. Many times it was one step forward and two steps back. Scott's desire for privacy and hiding his struggles were also players in the battle. His private demons were unknown to many who knew him. Scott had entered the road to recovery multiple times, before he was called back in to battle. His current life appeared that it was going to be his success story. We were wrong. He lost his battle. This horrible combination of diseases is the most difficult to treat, because of its permanent residence in the victims own mind. Scott received unconditional love, encouragement, and support from family but it was not enough. God continuously heard his name in prayer. Scott's legacy would be to awaken others to the pitfalls of these diseases and to seek help and never ever give up trying. Scott, we will always love you. - Scott Gerlach, 34 of Huntington, W.Va. passed away, Friday, August 22, 2014. He was born June 27, 1980 in Huntington, W.Va. the son of Gigi and Tim Gerlach of Huntington, W.Va. He was a 1998 graduate of Cabell Midland High School, served six years in the U.S. Navy and was an Operating Room Technician at Cabell Huntington Hospital. In addition to his parents, Scott is also survived by one brother, William Craig (Tia) Gerlach of Fla; two sisters, Heather Willis of SC. and Jessie (Michael) Pralle of MD; five nieces and nephews and a host of family and friends. Funeral services will be conducted at 7:00 PM on Monday, August 25, 2014 at Henson & Kitchen Mortuary, Huntington, W.Va. near Barboursville with Chaplin Tom Hastie officiating. The family will receive friends from 5-7 PM prior to services at the funeral home. In lieu of flowers, the family requests memorial donations be made in Scott's memory to The Healing Place of Huntington, P.O. Box 8061, Huntington, W.Va. 25705. Online condolences and memories may be shared with the family by visiting www.henrysonmortuary.com .

“ Dear Gigi, Tim, and family - my deepest condolences. I just found out about Scotty. Honestly, I am speechless. My thoughts and prayers are with you. He and I hit it off as brothers from the day we met at Kohls. I knew he had demons, but threw it all, we could have some amazing conversations. I always looked forward to our discussions and sharing of ideas - he was one deep fella. He helped me out in my darkest hours when I needed a friend and someone to listen to me - he was there day or night. I only wish he knew I was there for him, too. I will always be thankful for having him be part of my life. Your friend, Tim

“ I didn't know your loved one, Scott, but I lost my brother to suicide (also named Scott) in June. I wanted to express appreciation for this thoughtful and lovely obituary. Your words lovingly and gently describe the desperation of those afflicted with depression and addiction issues. Your words give me comfort. Thank you.

“ Someone from my support group called The Family's Battle shared this today. Words cannot describe how very sorry I am for your huge loss...I am the mother of 3 beautiful children and all of them are active addicts. I'm praying that God will help comfort you in your time of pain...a pain that never ceases. Bless you all and know there are so many of us out here who understands.

“ Words cannot express the heartbreak that I know your family is enduring. We also lost our son 3 yrs ago. To the same demons and battles within himself. I am so very truly sorry for your loss and I will continue to pray for comfort and healing for your family. After the loss of my son I saw him everywhere. Even in my dreams. Till one day my daughter (that is 12 yrs younger than her brother) had a dream and Kyle was there telling her that he is trying to show her he is no longer suffering and is at peace. I pray that you find that comfort. Much love being sent from another grieving family in Illinois.

“ Dear GiGi and Family, I was very saddened to hear of the loss of Scott but so very touched by the words written for his obituary. It was such a beautiful and honest tribute to him. Although I never had the opportunity to meet Scott I am certain he came from a loving family who cared deeply for him. As we all know, unfortunately that is not enough to ease their pain. May all of you be comforted by only pleasant memories of your times together and may his story help other people who are suffering with addictions and depression and those who love and care for them to be strong for each other. May. Scott rest in Eternal Peace.With Deepest Sympathy,Laura Mullarky

May you take comfort in knowing that, although the pain is unspeakable and you miss your loved one terribly, Scott is at rest. May your hearts and minds recall the happy times, the peaceful times, and plentiful good memories. I pray you are blessed with strength as you travel throughout the grieving process, and may each of you grieve individually, and as a family. I pray these things in Jesus' sweet, precious, and heavenly name. AMEN.*

“We are so sorry for your loss. Your obituary says what many of our children struggle with and the pain that the family feels when they can't help them with their struggles. We hope that you and your family are able to heal, knowing that Scott is no longer struggling with his enemies. This has to be one of the most heartfelt, honest and awakening tributes I have ever read about the inner demons and the fight our loved ones deal with day in and day out. May you be granted the same peace that Scott now has. Remember the love you shared not the heartbreak you're now feeling. Thank you for sharing this tribute to him.

“ To his family, friends and loved ones, May God bless the days ahead of you. No parent should ever have to bear this pain. God has a plan for each of us and like the transformation of the caterpillar to the magnificent butterfly, may your son be on the other side in endless beauty and Peace with Our Lord. I did not know him and only received this notice from fb page. I am a parent that has buried a child and knowing she us with God in Heaven comforts me. I am also a parent of an addict. The pain and worry is overbearing, but I am putting my Faith in front of fears. When the time is right, please look into Compassionate Friends, caring organization to help parents cope with the loss of their dear child, no matter what age or what caused their death. They have local chapters and Facebook page. Another Facebook page is GRASP. Grieving Parents. I will pray for you and may you have Love and Peace.

“ I didnt know this person. I never met him. I happened across his obituary on FB. I am, however, his sister. A sister in the same fight as he was. Although I've been fortunate to have been able to go to rehab and start fresh, I know I could very well end up like him in a heartbeat. I don't know what his family must be going through at this time. But I do know what your son went through his entire life. I've been there. I'm only a second away from being there again. Use this time to grieve his passing. But know that his life and death are not in vain. Use his story to touch someone's life. Someone who would be lost if not for him. That's his purpose. That's what he was meant for.

“ I still can't believe you're gone. I only wish I had met you sooner. Thank you for being a great co-worker and friend. May you rest in peace.

“ May God wrap you in his arms, Thank you for your honesty. I have a son that has been in battle for years. There is not a day that goes by I don't pray for him and others that are under this disease. I use to think I was the only one dealing with this, but I am learning I am not alone. There is a book written by a addicts father: David Sheff - Beautiful Boy the other written by his son Tweak, I can't remember the sons name. I hope this helps in your time of such heartache. From the book... "No matter how bad we hurt, the addict is hurting worse." Remembering all in prayers.

“ Scott was a wonderful man, surgical tech and friend! He made me feel welcome and a part of the Cabell "family" as soon as I arrived in Huntington in June 2012. He was always professional and fun to work with. I knew if I was in his room, all would be well and the case would proceed without any difficulties and we would have fun too! Love you Scott!

“ I first met Scott when he started in SPD, then he came into our dept O.R. Sterile, I have shared many laughs with him. I agree the statement in the Obit is so true once you get hooked on what ever it may be it takes it's toll on a person, I hope this reaches out to touch people to give them a wake up I am going to miss him terribly, and to his family may God help lift some of the grief and pain that you are going through!! Scott May you always R.I.P.

“ Our prayers and for comfort and peace are with GiGi and family during this difficult time. Scott, Selfishly we would like to have you here on earth to laugh with, talk to and make more precious memories. But, we realize now, the demons that you fought minute by minute, hour by hour, day by day and year by year. Sadly, our love and friendship we felt for you was not enough. Oh how we wish you would have reached out to us, made a phone call or drove by for a talk. If we had known your pain and struggles, maybe we could have said or done something to make a difference. It is our greatest wish that you are now at peace. God speed, our friend. We will miss you.
