“ Growing up with Sharon from the day I was born, Sharon was such a dear friend, that we always thought of her as family. As a small child, she would play endless games with me, entertaining me, and making me laugh. On a vital note, I can recall her always telling me, "Rusty, when you grow up, make sure you go to college!" I remember it to this day. I send a prayer up to her, thanking her for this encouragement, as I attribute part of my success in ultimately becoming a physician, because of her positive influence. She will never be forgotten!
