“ I absolutely love the idea! What a wonderful way for people to share their memories! I am totally NOT crafty, but I used to be a teacher, so my only thought is this. Could you take them out of the jar after the service and have them laminated?? It's not cheap, but you could have them laminated at Kinkos. Better yet, if you or a friend has access to a laminating machine at work (a school, church, etc.), you might be able to use that for free.
